TAXI CAB WAS SCENE OF FATAL PEORIA CRIME

Mystery in Shooting of Canadian War Veteran There

Peoria, Ill., June 4—(AP)—One man is dead and another seriously injured from bullet wounds as a result of a taxicab shooting affray at 10 o'clock last night. Another man in the affair who escaped is being sought by police.

Clarence Orr, 24, Canadian war veteran, formerly of Seattle, Wash., died at a hospital an hour after the shooting. Who fired the fatal shot is undetermined.

Floyd Lucas, 24, Yellow Cab driver in whose machine Orr and his unidentified companion were riding, is in a hospital, with a bullet lodged about an inch from his heart. He is thought to have a chance to recover. Lucas who roused temporarily from unconsciousness told the following story:

"Two men came to my cab in front of a cigar store. They engaged my cab and ordered me to drive them to Charleston Street. After we started one asked if I would take them out the back door. I became suspicious of the men. In the next block one shoved a gun in my side and told me to drive on. I passed two policemen and shouted to them. One of the men shot me and I fell from the cab."

Detectives searching an alley found Orr in the rear yard at the home of Thompson, lying on his back under a roadster shot through the head with a revolver gripped in one hand. The two policemen to whom Lucas had shouted found another revolver, with one shot having been fired, on the floor of the taxicab.

Supervisors to Meet in June Session on Monday

The auditing committee of the board of supervisors, consisting of M. J. Fielding, Carl C. Straw, William Llevan, Ross Emmitt and Roy Gooch, is in session today at the court house canvassing the records of the different county officers. The regular June session of the board will convene Monday and all bills against the county are to be filed with County Clerk Fred G. Dimick not later than noon Saturday.

NATURAL BEAUTIES ALONG ROUTE TWO TO BE PRESERVED

Organization Appeals for Co-operation in Commendable Work

Residents along the Black Hawk Trail between Dixon and Oregon—the scenic state route, which is now being paved—are to be asked to get behind a movement to preserve the beauties of nature which abound along the highway, in conjunction with the program of the American Automobile Association for cleaner camps and roadways and for the preservation of wild plant life in the 1925 touring season, according to a nationwide appeal broadcast from National Headquarters.

At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the association it was decided to throw all the resources of the national association and its affiliated clubs into the movement for the maintenance of the beauty spots of America intact and against ruthless destruction of wild shrubs and flowers. The appeal went out under the signature of Thomas P. Henry, president of the association.

Many Will Cooperate. Many civic organizations including chambers of commerce, women's clubs, the Garden Club of America, the Wild Flower preservation society, Boy and Girl Scouts and other bodies interested in outdoor recreation will co-operate in the movement.

"This work should be regarded as an aspect of the safety program in which the country is engaged," Mr. Henry said. "We are doing every thing possible to make the roads safer. It is also imperative that organized motordom put an end to the heedless destruction which is fastily depleting the natural beauty of the landscape."

The 700 clubs flying the Three A. emblem are pledged to give full support to the program formulated by national headquarters. Every club is asked to launch a campaign in its own territory. The radio will be extensively used to promote plant conservation, roadside landscaping and camp sanitation. Posters and pamphlets will be issued emphasizing the urgency of a national conservation policy in regard to the outdoors, and the government will be asked to scatter flower seeds in certain localities.

Be Good to Country. "Be good to your country" is the slogan of the campaign. Under this slogan the following notice will be carried on hundreds of thousands of maps issued by the association. In all its publications including camp manual, hotel book and tour books and it will also be prominently displayed in the touring bureau of every club affiliated with the national association.

"Don't pick too many wild flowers."

"Holly, dogwood, mountain laurel, and many other plants and flowers are being rapidly exterminated in this country because of unlicensed and ruthless gathering."

"Be good to your country and let all enjoy it bury all rubbish."

"Leave your camp in as good order as you would like to find it."

"Observe these few courtesies of the road and keep your country looking as lovely as God intended it to be."

"There are few motorists," said President Henry, "who would not commit themselves to the observation of these few simple rules. And yet in actual practice thousands disregard them. This is due to heedlessness rather than to wanton desire to destroy. Hence we may hope to accomplish much through education. In the communities where a campaign was waged last year, fewer cars were seen loaded with the product of the despoiled woods."

"Nature provided us with so much beauty that we took profusion for granted and dealt with this profusion with lavish hands. But today we stand in danger of exterminating much that contributes so much to the charm of the trail. Many plants and flowers are practically depleted."

"Of course motorists have often been blamed unjustly. But there is no doubt that they have been careless in the past and there is plenty of room today for writing a new chapter in the creed of a good motorist. After all, the motorist himself is the one who stands to lose the most from the desecration of the camp and the roadside and from the spoliation of wild plant life."

Picnickers are Careless.

"Our observation in the past has shown that the long-distance motor traveler is by no means the one who causes the most damage. The picnicker and the nomad traveling in the small car are as a rule the worst offenders. Lacking civic pride, sense of beauty and responsibility, only force can reach this type. But they are only a small percentage and if the great majority of motorists decide to hold fast to our slogan, 'Be Good to Your Country,' we can look forward to making 1925 season not only a banner year for the number of people who will go touring but from people who will go touring by the supreme court. All three men have

PEORIA BANDIT IS KILLED BY POSSE; ANOTHER WOUNDED

Disaster Meets Effort of Gang to Burglarize Norris Store

Peoria, Ill., June 4—(AP)—Chased by a posse following the robbery of the C. B. & Q. freight house, and the attempted burglary of the Benjamin Bros. store at Norris, Ill., Clyde Duncan, Peoria soft drink parlor proprietor, was instantly killed and his stepson, Guy Conkey was probably fatally wounded by the fire of the posse.

Duncan and Conkey, with a man believed to be Ralph Dimon, now under arrest at Canton, and two others who are sought, were surprised at work in the Bros. store at 2 o'clock this morning. The hastily formed posse opened fire on the lone occupant of an automobile standing in front of the store. He fled, and four companions from the store joined him in flight.

Duncan was hit first. He dropped near the railroad station, riddled by buckshot. Conkey was the next to go down. He fell shot through the head and body a hundred yards past the spot where death had overtaken his stepfather.

Escaped in Darkness.

Darkness aided the other three who made good their escape. Dimon was discovered at 5 o'clock by Ray Johnson, a member of the posse. He was lying in a wheat field several miles east of Norris. As the posse approached and saw him they demanded his surrender. He waved a white handkerchief in token of surrender. The robbers claimed he knew nothing of the robbery. He had been left stranded by an automobile party he said. His trousers were wet to the knees indicating he had run through wet fields.

Rushed to the Graham Hospital at Canton, Conkey has small chances for recovery, physicians say. One bullet pierced his head and another his abdomen.

Series of Robberies.

The shooting followed a series of burglaries at the Bros. store. Robberies have occurred there on an average of one a month for the past year. In desperation, the proprietors installed a burglar alarm connected with the home of Bros. across the street. When the burglars entered the store, the alarm was sprung arousing Bros. He called his two sons and two other citizens.

After the shooting, officers took charge of the bandit car. It was found to be partially loaded with goods which had been carried from the store. The machine was taken to Canton, where it is held.

Of the trio who met with disaster Duncan is the best known by reason of his two trials for the murder of John Powell, a Canton youth, who was shot to death a year ago in Duncan's soft drink parlor. The first trial resulted in hung jury. The second trial resulted in Duncan being found guilty and sentenced to 14 years in Joliet penitentiary but he was awarded a new trial by the supreme court. Chapman Reprived at Request of Man Who Prosecuted Him

Hartford, Conn., June 4—(AP)—A reprieve for Gerald Chapman from June 25 to Dec. 3 was issued today by Governor John H. Trumbull on the application of State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn. Chapman was convicted of the murder of Policeman Skelly in New Britain and after a sensational trial was sentenced by Judge Jennings to be hanged on June 25.

THREE MURDERS CHARGE AGAINST INDIANA WOMAN

Grand Jury Holds Mrs. Cunningham for Alleged Killings

Crown Point, Ind., June 4—(AP)—Mrs. Anna Cunningham, 49 years old, Gary, Ind., widow, was indicted on three first degree murder charges yesterday by the Lake County grand jury. The state charges that she slew three of her children by poison.

Mrs. Cunningham, who was taken into custody in Chicago and later confessed in the Crown Point jail, was held without bail.

The indictments charge that she killed Isabelle, 18, Charles, 19, and Walter, 13, upon whose deaths insurance policies were collected.

In her confession, Mrs. Cunningham said she killed only the ones she loved best and attempted to kill herself by poison so that they might "join Pa in heaven." Her husband, David Cunningham, whom she called "Pa" died July 2, 1913 when the family lived in Valparaiso, Ind. After his death Mrs. Cunningham and his children moved to Gary, where the other deaths occurred.

William Ruggles Died at His Home Last Eve

William Ruggles, a resident of Dixon for the past 35 years, passed away at his home, 415 East Sixth street last evening at 9:15, death relieving an illness of three years duration. Mr. Ruggles, who was a cement contractor here for years, was born at St. Charles, Ill., June 27, 1873. He leaves to mourn his passing: his wife; one son, Frank, and a step-son, William Maloney. His aged mother, Mrs. Mary Ruggles, one sister, Mrs. Lou Franks and four brothers, Charles, Orville and Albert of Dixon and Edward of Chicago also survive. Funeral services will be conducted from the family residence tomorrow afternoon at 2:30, Rev. B. H. Cleaver, pastor of the Christian church officiating and with burial in Oakwood.

American Legion Will Hold Important Meet

A very important meeting of Dixon Post, No. 12, American Legion will be held at their hall at 8 o'clock this evening. Every member is urged to attend by Commander Willard Thompson.

been involved many times in holdups and police records.

An inquest will be opened at 10 o'clock this morning into Duncan's death.

ASTRONOMER OF WORLD-WIDE FAME IS DEAD AT PARIS

Flammarion, Who Popularized Study, Passed Away This Morn

Paris, June 4—(AP)—Camille Flammarion, noted French astronomer, is dead.

Flammarion, made astronomy popular to the layman. He sugar-coated astronomical facts, but while he won applause from the layman some of his serious-minded contemporaries in the study of astronomy attacked many of his theories as pure fancies.

Flammarion, when a boy of nine years old, witnessed the sun eclipsed by the moon. Awd by the phenomenon, his chief concern was in how astronomers who predicted this event were able to tell. Thereafter, he had could usually be found at sunset on a neighboring hill watching the departing orb and waiting for the appearance of the stars.

In his 15th year he wrote a book on the origin of the world, but in his own words "It luckily never met a publisher."

He ended the famous Paris Observatory, and became an assistant astronomer to Le Verrier, and wrote his first published book at nineteen years of age. It was translated at once to almost every language.

He soon assumed direction of the scientific review "Cosmos," and also published his second scientific work, "The World Imaginary and the World Real."

Studied From Balloons.

With the famous aeronaut Godard, the young astronomer ascended in balloons to study the heavens. These observations extended over a period of five years.

During the Franco-Prussian war in 1871, he demonstrated the practical application of his knowledge of astronomy and telescopes. Hidden in an observatory at Passy, as captain of a special corps, he commissioned other astronomers to assist him in study of the Prussian troops banked around Paris.

All overtures for public office after the war were refused by Flammarion. He devoted himself to study, his double and multiple stars, their colors, and proper motions and spots, the branches of the science in which he specialized.

Estate Was Gift.

Most of his great achievements during the latter part of his life were accomplished in his observatory at Juvigny. It was called the "halfway house of kings and courtiers." Here Napoleon had received the news of the fall of Paris and from here he departed to Fontainebleau to bid adieu to his army, in 1814. The estate was a gift to Flammarion from an admirer, M. Meret.

Flammarion will be remembered for his many books, written in a poetic and philosophic vein. While great secrets of the universe are therein disclosed, they are clothed in language that is as entertaining as a novel. It is on this that his popular fame rests.

OUTSIDE FIRMS WILL SEND BOYS TO DIXON Y CAMP

Value and Popularity of "Yomechas" is Known Abroad

The popularity of Camp Yomechas which the Y. M. C. A. is conducting for the boys of Dixon has gone beyond the limits of the city. Mr. Hunt, secretary of the local association, has received word from four outside firms that they are interested in this phase of boys work and they are sending a limited number of boys to camp for the entire ten days as their guests. These firms are the well known Iken Biscuit Company, the Kraft Cheese Co., Post Toastie Cereal Co. and Monarch Coffee Co. Last year the boys camp used the products of these firms and found them so satisfactory that the community committee has decided to use their products in camp again this year. The lucky boys have been picked and will go to camp with the whole party next Tuesday.

Local organizations also recognize the value of Camp Yomechas. The Toastmasters Business men club at their meeting last week voted to pay the expenses of one boy at camp, and yesterday the auxiliary of the local post of the American Legion voted to send "their boy" for the whole ten day period. "Their Boy" is a 15 year old boy whom they are sponsoring this year as a member of the Y. M. C. A.

Needless to say these firms and local organizations have made several boys most happy as well as rendering them an inestimable service for their future lives. There are still a few vacancies before the camp quota is filled. In thinking of your boy at camp remember that there will be six men of Christian character living with the boys the entire period.

May Perfect Nelson Sunday School Sunday

Services will be conducted again at 2:30 next Sunday afternoon in the Nelson school house. The Rev. Frank Brandtner, pastor of Dixon Evangelical church, will be in charge, and deliver the sermon.

These meetings at Nelson are planned by the Dixon Ministers' Association, with a view to the organization of a Sunday school there. So far this year no regular school or preaching services have been held in Nelson, until the Dixon ministers undertook to bring to the people there more adequate religious opportunities.

A splendid group of children attended last Sunday's meeting but only a few adults; and the ministers in charge felt it would be better to await a larger co-operation from the parents of the village. So it is hoped next Sunday's service will see more of the fathers and mothers present, in which case the Rev. Brandtner and the workers accompanying him will proceed to organize the Sunday school, and plan for further services through the summer.

Hunt's Team Winner of Walton League Contest

The membership contest which has been conducted by the Dixon chapter of the Izaak Walton League closed Saturday night with the addition of 92 new members to the roll. Hal Hunt's Lane Ducks came through and won the contest, having signed up 51 new members while Bob Stratton's Croppies landed but 44. Notice of the date for the banquet to be furnished by the losing team will be made later. Members of Dixon chapter have been invited to attend the annual picnic and outing of Blvidere chapter to be held at Kingston park, Kingston, Ill., Sunday, June 21. A large delegation from Dixon attended this outing last year and won many fine prizes in the bait casting contests.

Injured Man Rescues Pal's Body from Wreck

Galesburg, Ill., June 4—Roy C. Bloom, 27, of Blandinsville, was killed and Royce Huston, 27, also of Blandinsville, was seriously injured, when the car in which they were speeding failed to make a turn on the road near Good Hope, on the McDonough-Warren County line last night, and overturned in a field after going over an embankment and through a fence. The machine caught fire, but Huston, though badly cut, was able to get Bloom's body from the wreckage before the flames reached it. Bloom, the driver, was instantly killed. Both men were former soldiers and were on their way to a joint meeting of the McDonough and Fulton American Legion posts at London Mills.

Former Fire Chief is Very Sick in Chicago

George A. Dietrick, of Chicago, formerly of Dixon, is critically ill at his home according to word received by Fire Chief Thomas Coffey this morning. Mr. Dietrick has also been confined to his home for several weeks with a severe illness.

Memorial Association to Meet Saturday Eve

An important meeting of the Dixon Memorial Association, which all officers are expected to attend, and to which the public is invited, will be held at the G. A. R. hall at 8 o'clock Saturday evening.

MANY DEATHS AS RESULT OF HEAT, STORMS

Washington, D. C. Was Hottest Place in Entire Nation

BULLETIN. At 2 o'clock this afternoon the government thermometer at the Arvone H. Lord home, 415 First ave., registered 91 degrees above zero. The highest reached yesterday was 82.

BULLETIN. Chicago, June 4—(AP)—One death and two prostrations from the heat in Chicago today were reported up to 2 p. m. when the temperature had steadily mounted to 93 and still was rising.

Chicago, June 4—(AP)—Little hope for cooler weather was held out today by the weather bureau to a nation sweltering in many places from the greatest heat in many years. Continuance of high temperatures, prevalent from the Rockies to the Atlantic Ocean, for several days was forecast by the weather observers for at least 48 hours longer, at many points. The middle Atlantic states, where the heat has been most intense the last day or two, and the southern states, in particular were due to have the heat wave with them as a more or less welcome guest.

Only Kansas, of the middle western commonwealths, was favored in the weather bureau's prognostications. In the west portion of Kansas it will be "somewhat cooler Friday" if these "wintery" prove correct. And "it's going to rain some more in the midwest," the weather man added. Showers and thunderstorms, he said, are to be the order in every state from Michigan and Indiana to Montana and Wyoming.

Fear Damage to Corn. Iowa, whose famed "tall corn" is not yet tall enough to stand up under such violent windstorms and thunderstorms as have hit that state this week, resented the forecast with apprehension. It has had more of these disturbances of late than probably any other central state and just last night another severe wind and rain storm struck at Missouri Valley, in western Iowa, causing several thousand dollars damage.

While the midwest had seven deaths within the last 36 hours, due to storms, in addition to several others previously the east announced a death total of 12 in three days due to heat, and sixty prostrations. One person died in New York yesterday and 15 were overcome when Gotham had a temperature of 92 and the hottest June 3 in 30 years. Three persons died in Philadelphia, where the mercury reached 94. Washington, D. C., had the highest temperature recorded by the weather bureau in the country—98.

Bad Storms in East. Thousands of dollars damage was done in western Massachusetts by hail and an electrical storm which followed a reported temperature of 100. Storms in northern New Jersey, however, gave only temporary relief. Muncie, Ind., also had a temperature unofficially set at 100 degrees and two youths were drowned near there while swimming.

Large property damage was done in Omaha by a windstorm which struck late in the day causing hundreds of persons at a race track to lie in the mud until a feared "tornado" had passed.

Shriners' festivities in Los Angeles were postponed on account of rain and the California reporters failed to say if the downpour was accompanied by sultry heat as were many of the midwest's rains yesterday.

University Scholarship Examination on Saturday

The annual university examination for scholarship in the University of Illinois will be held at the office of County Superintendent L. W. Miller, Saturday, June 6. Graduates of all recognized high schools in Lee county will be eligible to write this competitive examination. Lee county is entitled to one scholarship in the university by this examination.

Making First Visit in Dixon Since Early in 80s

George M. Anderson of Moline, a former resident here, is paying his first visit to Dixon since 1881, when he went to South Dakota to operate a ranch. He first left Dixon in 1875, going to Lee Center, where he farmed until '81. He is a guest at the Eugene A. Biggart home, 819 N. Galena avenue.

LICENSED TO WED

DIXON-LINCOLN MONUMENT
BILL PASSES HOUSE AND NOW GOES TO THE SENATEAssembly Busy Today
in Effort to Clean Up
Its Calendar

Springfield, Ill., June 4.—(AP)—The house today passed the McCarthy bill, designed to aid citizens in ascertaining how the state's money is spent.
It appropriates $50,000 for the installation of a new system of book keeping in the state auditor's office, which McCarthy claimed would make the state finances an open book to any citizen. The present system, he contended makes it difficult for persons not connected with the state government to find out how much is spent for any given thing.

Representative Lee O'Neil Browne, Ottawa, opposed the bill on the ground that it would be a waste of money and an indirect slur at the honesty of the auditor. The present system is efficient he said and any one can find out all they want to know about state finances. McCarthy denied any intention to cast aspersions on the auditors honesty but said the bill is merely a business proposition and that the new system would reduce operating expenses in the auditor's office.

May Eliminate Bills.

At the Senate session today Senator Dallay, Peoria, announced that he will offer a motion next Tuesday to strike from consideration all bills now in the Senate committees except those relating to reappropriation, one of the usual forerunners to the end of the session. Advocates of the women's eight hour bill now before the Senate industrial affairs committee have scheduled a hearing for Tuesday morning in an effort to get the measure under the death line. Three previous hearings were scheduled but in each case a quorum failed to appear.

Tourbillot Bill Passed

The House passed five appropriation bills in addition to the McCarthy measure. Included in the list was the Hutton bill carrying $20,000 for an addition to the gymnasium at the State Teachers College at Normal.
$20,000 for an addition to the Teachers College gymnasium at Carbondale and $80,000 for the completion of a girls dormitory at Normal. The Tourbillot bill carrying $1,000 for the erection of a granite block and tablet on the site of the Old Dixon Block House as a memorial to Abraham Lincoln; the appropriation of $44,450, for the new state department of conservation and $5,000 for a commission to make a survey of crippled children in Illinois and means for educating them.

Kingdom-Mt. Union
Aid Society Meeting

Mrs. John Stanley charmingly entertained the members and guests of the Kingdom-Mt. Union Aid Society on Wednesday, June 3rd.

The picnic dinner was all that could be desired and was enjoyed very much.

After the usual business routine a short program was given:
Vocal Solo, Mother Knows—Mrs. Ivan Floto.

Reading, A Little Touch of God—
Mrs. Klaprodt.
Reading, Christmas Leftovers—Mrs.
Lee Wuqua.

Reading, A Modern Woman's Circle
Mrs. E. Stanley.

Names drawn for the committee for the next program were Mrs. Frank Thomson, chairman; Mrs. Hamilton,
Mrs. Fuqua.

The annual picnic of the Aid will be held next Wednesday at Lowell Park.
All members and families are invited with the privilege of taking several friends.

Ice cream and lemonade will be furnished as usual by the Aid. All those desiring coffee, should make it and bring it from home. Bring your own silverware, sandwiches, and one other article of food.

It was decided during the meeting to purchase material for a quilt for the bazaar this fall.

The invitation of Mrs. Charles of town, has been accepted and the Spangler on the Lincoln Highway east next regular meeting will be held at her home, June 17th.

After singing a hymn and repeating the Lord's Prayer the guests departed thanking Mrs. Stanley for a very pleasant day.

Charming Party for Miss Betty Wingert

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. John Earle gave a delightful little party for her sister, Miss Betty Wingert, at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs.
E. E. Wingert, 302 Boyd street, announcing at this time the engagement of Miss Wingert and Stanwood John Griffith, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Griffith of Ashton, Ill. The marriage will take place soon.

The guests yesterday were a few intimate girl friends and the announcement of the engagement was prettily made, the names of Miss Wingert and Mr. Griffith being inscribed on white hearts concealed in dainty pink and white nosegays presented each guest. Pink and white flowers were used in decorating. A dainty

Mrs. Phillip N. Marks
Passed Away Last Night

Mrs. Phillip N. Marks passed away last evening at 7:15 at the family residence, 226 West Chamberlain street after an illness of several months duration. Mrs. Marks was born in St.
Petersburg, Russia, April 3, 1865, and had made her home in Dixon for the past 26 years. She is survived by her husband; two daughters, Mrs.
Rachel Ruben of Sterling and Mrs.
Anna Gustafson of Philadelphia, Pa., one son, David T. Marks of this city; and three step sons. The remains will be taken to Chicago in the morning and burial will take place in Waldheim. Mrs. Marks was a member of Minnie Bell lodge of Rebekahs and also of the Order of Eastern Star of this city.

WERE MARRIED IN

BEFORE THE TRAIN—

We knew it would rain, for all the morn.
A spirit on slender ropes of mist
Was lowering its golden buckets down
Into the vapory amethyst.
Of marshes and swamps and dismal fens—Scooping the dew that lay in the flower-ers,
Dipping the jewels out of the sea,
To scatter them over the land in showers.

We know it would rain, for the poplars showed
The white of their leaves, the amber grain
Shrunk in the wind—and the lightning now
Is tangled in tremulous skeins of rain.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS—

Leave in Tiny Flakes.
Avoid rubbing the shortening too thoroughly into the flour when making piercrust. It should be left in tiny flakes.

No Soap in Ice Box.
Never use soap when cleaning the inside of a refrigerator—always use soda and tepid water.

Golden Rule Class Meeting

The Golden Rule Class of St. Paul's Lutheran church held their monthly meeting Tuesday evening in the church parlors with an attendance of twenty-one. During the meeting a reading was given by Miss Edna Martinson which was enjoyed by all.

Following the meeting a miscellaneous shower was held for Miss Florence Rudolph who is soon to be the bride of George Bartholomew. She received a number of nice gifts from her friends for the new home. The hostesses for the evening were Misses Mary Bollman, Lucia Spencer, Esther Young and Gladys Toot.

Temping refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed by all present.

GRADUATES FROM CRYSTAL TOWNSHIP HIGH SCHOOL—

Menus for a Family

Tested by SISTER MARY.

Breakfast—
Stewed, rhubarb, scrambled eggs with rice, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—
Baked green beans, whole wheat and lettuce sandwiches, baked custard, orange jumbles, milk, tea.

Dinner—
Smothered veal steak, mashed potatoes, creamed carrots, stuffed beet salad, orange strawberries, sponge cake, Graham bread, milk, coffee.

If you have never tried combining strawberries with other fruits, you have a "treat in store." For a family of adults, a thin layer of sliced bananas between two layers of strawberries with orange juice poured over the whole and the berries sweetened with powdered sugar adds much to the combination. The fruits should be combined and placed on ice for an hour or two before serving.

Orange Jumbles.
One-half cup butter, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 4 tablespoons orange juice, grated rind of one orange, 2 eggs, 2 1/2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt.

Cream butter and slowly add sugar, beating until creamy. Beat in orange juice and grated rind. Beat eggs until light and add to first mixture. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder and add to first mixture. Knead slightly on molding board and roll into a thin sheet. Cut with a doughnut cutter and bake in a quick oven. These little cakes are particularly good with iced tea or lemonade. (Copyright, 1925, NEA Service, Inc.)

Party Honored Mrs. E. Gorton

A very pleasant gathering was held on Tuesday at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. David Spencer, honoring Mrs. Ellis Gorton of Brookings, South Dakota. The guests were former schoolmates and neighbors of Mrs. Gorton when she lived in Dixon.

All were glad to again greet her. A most appetizing picnic dinner was enjoyed on the spacious porch at the noon hour, after which a delightful and merry time was spent in reminiscences of other days, and in guessing contests and stories.

Those present enjoying the happy occasion were: Mrs. Ellis Gorton, Mrs. Frank Glessner, Mrs. Charles Shoemaker, Mrs. A. W. Hartman, Mrs. A. D. George, Mrs. L. Sheets, Mrs. Lloyd Hoyle, Mrs. J. Lautzenhiser, Mrs. W. E. Richardson, Mrs. C. C. Buzard and Miss Daisy Gorton.

Miss Decker to Convention in 'Frisco

Miss Edna J. Decker will leave in the morning for Chicago where she will join the representatives and delegates of the National Electric Light association who are attending the National Convention in San Francisco, June 15-19. Miss Decker was the successful contestant among the women of the Middle West Utilities Co., for an attractive prize, attendance at the convention, and anticipate a most delightful trip. The journey to San Francisco will take nine days, stopovers to be made at Banff Springs, Lake Louise, Vancouver and Portland where entertainment will be furnished by the various electric light and power companies. The return trip, extending to July 6th, will include Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, Colorado Springs and Estes Park.

Miss Decker has been an employee of the Illinois Northern Utilities Co., for the past seven years, serving as cashier until September, 1923, when she was promoted to the Stock Securities Department, at the same time assuming the chairmanship of the Women's Committee on Public Utility Information, N. E. L. A., for the Illinois Northern Utilities Co.

The judges of the contest, Messrs. Martin J. Insull, president, E. V. Graham, vice president, and J. C. Martin of the Middle West Utilities Co., selected her essay, "An Address to a Woman's Club," regarding the Utility business, from among the 39 essays that ranked highest in the individual company contests."

Criticism of the management of the local post office growing out of holiday closing is without reason. The post office department at Washington, D. C., regulates the holiday schedule, and when they authorize a holiday in its fullest sense it means there shall be no delivery of mail either by currier or from the general delivery window, but for those who must absolutely have their mail on such days there is the opportunity of securing a lock box. The lobby on such occasions is always open for the depositing of mail, and the regular collection and dispatch of mail is the same as on other days.

The new ruling has only been in effect during the past year, however, the plan is no doubt here to stay, and patrons will perhaps become accustomed to the new status of affairs much the same as they did after the department discontinued Sunday delivery.

Modern Refrigerators

Have been pronounced the Biggest Value ever offered in a Refrigerator

They are built simply and practical. Cold air from the ice chamber descends through an opening under the ice and passes downward through the provision chamber. This cold air absorbs heat and impurities from the food, and then rises at the sides of the provision chamber until it enters the ice chamber through the flues at the top. There it strikes the ice and condenses. The condensation and melting of the ice absorbs all odors, and gasses which pass out with the drip water. The air passes over the ice and again enters the provision chamber pure cold and dry. The Modern Refrigerator system of circulation keeps the provision chambers as cold as the ice chamber, the difference being but a few degrees. This utilizes the ice to the best advantage. What more could one expect of a refrigerator?

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

Washington—The snappy make-arctic and antarctic dashes today compares oddly with the laborious-ness of such expeditions not so many years ago.

The up-to-date venturer into high latitudes tells of his exploits as he'd describe a walk down the street. For instance, Captain Robert Bartlett, a veteran of several of Admiral Peary's trips, describes his experiences with less stress on their hardships and dangers than the average pedestrian places on an account of a difficult crossing of a busy street.

"But, cap," I reasoned with him one day, "easy as it sounds, according to your story, nevertheless it's a fact that lots of explorers have lost their lives at the north and south poles or thereabouts. How do you explain that?"

"Those old-timers," replied the captain, "didn't know their business.
They loaded themselves down with supplies and equipment until they were themselves out lugging their own outfits with them. An arctic expedition needs to keep moving."

"Those chaps used to spend as much time pitching camp and pulling up stakes again, and cooking and fussing, as they did on their travels.
Finally, too played out to tote their junk any further and afraid to abandon anything, they sat down in the midst of it and froze or starved to death."

Lieutenant Frederick Schwatka, well known in his day, spoke in much the casual tone of Captain Barlett of the perils of the north. As a very young reporter I interviewed him years ago concerning his exploratory work in interior Alaska, then little known.

Emerging from the wilderness on his way to the sea he had crossed the Coast Range by way of Chilkoot Pass, later famed as the principal highway of the Klondike goldseekers entering the country. At this latter period in the pass's horrors were described in a way so daunt the bravest.

Schwatka told about it like this:
"My Indians and I reached the pass at dusk and camped. Next morning we crossed, finding it rather dangerous, for a fog prevented us from seeing plainly and a misstep might have meant a bad fall."

Attorney General Sargent has grown accustomed to having men insist on long penitentiary terms for themselves and kick because they haven't been hanged.

Gerald Chapman given, 20 years at Atlanta for robbery and death for murder, recently demanded of Sargent the privilege of serving his prison term first. Vuco Perovich, doomed to death for murder, had his sentence commuted to life at Leavenworth. Now he tells Sargent he never asked, wanted or accepted his commutation. Having been cheated of his right to die by the rope, he demands freedom.

To prevent robberies from bank messengers a steel vest has been invented to hold bundles of money and securities.

The Boys Who Fought

(By Clint Bliss)
When war broke loose in foreign lands,
And found us unprepared,
When ships that bore our flag were sunk,
And dreaded war declared,
The Joneses, Smiths and Robinsons,
The Murphys and O'Tooles, Sprang from the shops and from the mines,
And from the farms and schools.

The boys of Hebrew parentage
Responded to the call—
The Epsteins and the Rosenbergs—
They gladly took them all.
And with them went a million more,
Of stalwart German lads,
Enlisted 'neath the Stars and Stripes,
Though sired by Teuton dads.

And negro boys from the South,
With eagerness sang out,
And joined the chorus "Over There,"
With patriotic shout.
Then came the hour when peace pre-valled,
Our boys had won the fray,
And with the good old Stars and Stripes,
They faced the other way.

Four million stalwart fighting lads,
Had fought for liberty,
Maintained the honor of our flag,
On every land and sea,
None asked them how they worshipped God,
What creed they thought was right,
This question only were they asked:
"Are you prepared to fight?"

The Joneses and the Flannigans,
The O'Tooles and the Schleys,
The Robinsons and the Rosenbergs,
The Isaacs and the Grays, Came marching home from "Over There."

We greeted them with cheers,
Our hearts brimful of happiness,
Our eyes brimful of tears.

We greeted them with plaudits loud,
For their heroic deeds,
And promised them we would provide
For all their future needs,
But there were some who failed to come,

For they had paid the price—
These were the gallant boys who made The Supreme Sacrifice.

And now are we to say that these,
Because of creed and race,
Among full-fledged Americans,
Shall be refused a place?
The Epsteins and the Raffertys,
Whatever their faith or bent,
Are everyone Americans,
And grade a hundred per cent!

We had proceeded some five more miles when again we saw a white arrow upon the rocks. It was at a point where the face of the cliff was for the first time split into a narrow cleft. Inside the cleft was a second guidance mark, which pointed right up it with the tip somewhat elevated, as if the spot indicated were above the level of the ground.

It was a solemn place, for the walls were so gigantic and the slit of blue sky so narrow and so obscured by a double fringe of verdure, that only a dim and shadowy light penetrated to the bottom. We had had no food for many hours, and were very weary with the story and irregular journey, but our nerves were too strung to allow us to halt. We ordered the camp to be pitched, however, and, leaving the Indians to arrange it, we four, with the two half-breeds, proceeded up the narrow gorge.

It was not more than forty feet across at the mouth, but it rapidly closed until it ended in an acute angle, too straight and smooth for an ascent. Certainly it was not this which our pioneer had attempted to indicate. We made our way back—the whole gorge was not more than a quarter of a mile deep—and then suddenly the quick eyes of Lord John fell upon what we were seeking. High up above our heads, amid the dark shadows, there was one circle of deeper gloom. Surely it could only be the opening of the cave.

The base of the cliff was heaped with loose stones at the spot, and it was not difficult to clamber up. When we reached it, all doubt was removed. Not only was it an opening into the rock, but on the side of it there was marked once again shot past us with tremendous force. It was the narrowest escape for one or all of us. We could not ourselves see whence the rock had come, but our half-breed servants, who were still at the opening of the cave, said that it had flown past them, and must therefore have fallen from the summit. Looking upwards, we could see no sign of movement above us amidst the green jungle which topped the cliff. There could be little doubt, however, that the stone was aimed at us, so the incident surely pointed to humanity—and malevolent humanity—upon the plateau.

We withdrew hurriedly from the chasm, our minds full of this new development and its bearing upon our plans. The situation was difficult enough before, but if the obstructions of Nature were increased by the deliberate opposition of man, then our case was indeed a hopeless one. And yet, as we looked up at that beautiful fringe of verdure only a few hundreds of feet above our heads, there was not one of us who could conceive the idea of returning to London until we had explored it to its depths.

On discussing the situation, we determined that our best course was to continue to coast round the plateau in the hope of finding some other means of reaching the top. The line of cliffs, which had decreased considerably in height, had already begun to trend from west to north, and if we could take this as representing the arc of a circle, the whole circumference could not be very great. At the worst, then, we should be back in a few days at our starting point.

We made a march that day which totaled some two-and-twenty miles, without any change in our prospects. I may mention that the sign of the arrow. Here was the point, and this the means by which Maple White and his ill-fated comrade had made their ascent.

Suddenly an exclamation broke from Lord Roxton. "It's blocked," said he.

We were too excited to return to the camp, but must make our first exploration at once. Lord John had an electric torch in his knapsack, and this had to serve us as light. He advanced, throwing his little clear circle of yellow radiance before him, while in single file we followed at his heels.

The cave had evidently been water-worn, the sides being smooth and the floor covered with rounded stones. It was of such a size that a single man could just fit through by stooping. For fifty yards it ran almost straight into the rock, and then it ascended at an angle of forty-five. Presently this incline became even steeper, and we found ourselves climbing upon hands and knees among loose rubble which slid from beneath us. Suddenly an exclamation broke from Lord Roxton.

"It's blocked!" said he. Clustering behind him we saw in the yellow field of light a wall of broken basalt which extended to the ceiling.

"The roof has fallen in!" In vain we dragged out some of the pieces. The only effect was that the larger ones became detached and threatened to roll down the gradient and crush us. It was evident that the obstacle was far beyond any efforts which we could make to remove it. The road by which Maple White had ascended was no longer available.

Too much cast down to speak, we stumbled down the dark tunnel and made our way back to the camp.

One incident occurred, however, before we left the gorge, which is of importance in view of what came afterwards.

We had gathered in a little group at the bottom of the chasm, some forty feet beneath the mouth of the cave, when a huge rock rolled suddenly downwards and

And yet it was all over in a flash, and there was no sequel to it, save in our own convictions.

Is Today Your Birth Anniversary?

THURSDAY, JUNE 4—If today is your birthday, you will long to be in newspaper work from the time you begin your high school course. Although you have some ability along this line, the chances are that you would be more successful in some other kind of work. You will graduate from college two years before the usual age, and will leave your home town soon after to seek your fortune. You will marry after a rather long engagement.

You are born under the zodiacal sign of Gemini, the twins, which portends for you a healthy life.

H. U. Bardwell continues to write insurance—auto or fire—makes no difference to Hal.

There'll be Only you and the Maytag

WE WANT to loan you this washer tomorrow, next day, or any time you wish. Wash with it—yourself. That's all there is to a MAYTAG demonstration. No obligation to buy, no coercion, no persuasion, no demonstrating tricks. The MAYTAG must sell itself—must prove its unmatched excellence—to you.

And further, we urge you to make this practical prepurchase test side by side with any other washer that you believe to be as good. No other method is quite so convincing, quite so determining. It is by this common-sense, self-sale plan that the world leadership of the Gyrafoam is maintained.

Telephone us your name and address and we will bring a MAYTAG right to your home—where you may wash with it—alone.

SICK WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Can Be Carried Comfortably Over
The Critical Period by Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
—Note Mrs. Headen's Case

Macon, Georgia. — "During the Change of Life I suffered with my whole right side and could not lie on my left side. I was in bed about two months and could not get up only as my son would lift me. After doctoring without relief a man who was rooming with us told my son that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured his mother at the Change of Life, so I began taking your medicine. After taking it for two weeks I could get out of my bed by myself. I am now 53 years old and in better health and stronger than ever in my life. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to many suffering women, young and old, and you may use my name anywhere as long as you please. I will be glad to answer any letters sent to me." — Mrs. F. B. HEADEN, 5 Holt Avenue, Macon, Georgia.

In a recent country-wide canvass of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, over 200,000 replies were received and 98 out of every 100 reported they had been benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

MYSTERY AND MURDER

John Alden Prescott's Home Looted; Suspected Murder of Governors

Last night the home of John Alden Prescott was entered by burglars and the jewels of Mrs. Prescott taken from the safe. Among them were her celebrated pearls valued at a half million dollars.

This burglary is all the more mysterious because of the fact that Miss Zoe Ellington, a friend of the family, who was acting in the capacity of nursery governess, has disappeared.

Whether she was abducted or murdered and the body spirited away, the police have not yet determined. Some one, however, was wounded in the hallway of the house, for blood was found on the newel post. This might have been Sydney Carton, an intimate friend of Mr. Prescott's who was their house guest, and who also has disappeared.

One theory is that Miss Ellington, hearing some noise, slipped downstairs and was made to open the safe for the robbers, and that Mr. Carton, hearing her scream, descended to her rescue and was either shot or struck on the head.

Just why both bodies should disappear is bothering the police as there is not the faintest clue to their disposal.

There is one other theory that looks plausible and Detective Delahany insists that he will have the thieves within 24 hours.

Mrs. Prescott's pearls are of international repute and they are usually

PLAY GIVEN BY OREGON SENIORS PRONOUNCED HIT

Big Audience Pleased With Production of Graduates

Oregon.—The Senior Class play "Graduates" was given at the Coliseum Tuesday night to a packed audience. It was a wonderful success and pronounced by some as the best play ever presented in Oregon. Each did his part well and the coach, Miss Edith Lindsey, deserves a great deal of credit for her faithful work for the class only decided about a month ago to give a play. Miss Lindsey was presented with a huge bouquet of flowers in a beautiful basket.

The seventh grade and the two eighth grades of the public school accompanied by their teachers, Miss Flora Blomquist, Miss Mayne Gantz and Mrs. Sila Oakes enjoyed a picnic at Stillman Valley Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Bacon, of Davenport, Iowa, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bishoff motored to Oregon, Monday night to attend the dance at the Coliseum at which the Kansas City Night Hawk orchestra furnished the music.

Miss Rachel Robinson was hostess to a card party Monday evening. George Schneider attended a bankers' luncheon at Rockford Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Becker of Chicago are guests in the Nicholas Malinger home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Pemberton and children of Oakland, Ill., were guests in the R. W. Thorpe home Monday.

Miss Ruth Bohner, of Rockford, and Wilbur Reed, of Byron, were married Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Bohner's sister, Mrs. Lee Allen on South Fourth St. in the presence of a few relatives and friends.

Both Miss Bohner and Mr. Reed were formerly of Oregon and have a host of friends here to wish them happiness. They will reside at Byron where the groom is engaged in the garage business.

Mrs. George Schneider was hostess to a club Thursday afternoon. George Bohner of Pittsburg, Pa., is a guest of Oregon relatives this week.

Mrs. Donald Crowell left Monday for a several weeks' visit in Denver, Colo., with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sheets have rented the Behler home on South Fourth Street for two months this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cole of Rockford spent the week end in Oregon.

Chicago has the reputation of having more fatal auto accidents per 1000 automobiles registered than any of 37 other large cities in the country, not withstanding such cities as Los Angeles and Detroit have more automobiles per capita.

Weighing only 4 1-2 pounds, an automatic motion picture camera can be carried easily on picnic outings.

2 but thus far few clambers have started.

Farmers in this vicinity are plowing corn and a few are putting in their alfalfa hay. Some corn damaged by the frost had to be replanted.

Ward Miller is spending a few days at the home of his father, Orville Miller. He was the guest Tuesday evening of Joshua Hoyle.

The clamming season opened June 1.

UNDERTAKERS OF STATE FEELING BUSINESS SLUMP

Physicians Have Fared
But Little Better, Report Shows

Springfield.—The business year thus far has been bad for undertakers. Worse still, the profession seems totally unable to stimulate any popular sympathy in their adverse affairs, which are likely to become worse before getting better. This, at least, is the opinion of Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, state health director, who points out that mortality generally has been substantially lower than the average for the late winter and spring months and this is usually the season when death rates are highest.

Doctors have fared but little better than the undertakers if the incidence of communicable diseases may be accepted as an index to the general health conditions. For the first five months of 1925 approximately 80,000 cases of notifiable diseases were reported to the state health authorities against an average of 127,600 cases for the corresponding period of the five preceding years.

Some Bad Spots.
"There were bad spots, however, in spite of the generally healthy conditions," Dr. Rawlings said. "Scarlet fever reached the highest monthly prevalence in years when 2384 cases were reported in March. The peak of the epidemic has passed now and a rapid decline in case reports is in progress. The venereal infections, most far-reaching, of all maladies in their destructive power, continued to be the most prevalent of notifiable diseases, constituting nearly one-fifth of the total case reports. Tuberculosis was about as usual, this disease being less subject to radical changes than many others.

Smallpox Prevalent.
"Smallpox has been rather unusually prevalent, the incidence running nearly three times that of last year while a number of disturbing epidemic centers still demonstrate discouraging ability to flare up.

Measles is right now at the crest of its seasonal prevalence wave, the case reports for May mounting above 6000 and doubling the record for last year. Prevalence of this disease will probably fall abruptly from now on. Whooping cough is on an upward swing with prospects of a continued climb until late in June or early July. Whooping cough is now nearly three times as prevalent as it was last year with a tendency to mount above the average for the past seven years.

"Diphtheria incidence continues to be exceptionally low. Last year the prevalence of this disease during the first few months was well below the average while the incidence this year is scarcely more than half that reported a year ago. A fly in the ointment here is found in the contention of some authoritative medical observers that dry years bring much diphtheria. In that case the outlook for the fall months is not so good. On the other hand diphtheria can be prevented by vaccination and since it is distinctly a childhood disease, the matter of whether or not we have lots of diphtheria is a question for parents to decide."

Good mothers rarely if ever come into the world ready made. If humans were on the same level with wild animals that would be the case but in the highly civilized and complex state of society mothercraft is an art that must be learned. The wife that will make a good mother is the one who studies the subject of motherhood with the same perseverance and determination that marks the progress of a good mechanic or a good doctor.

"Why! He's Nothing But Skin and Bones"

"Marry Him? Never"

"Quit kidding me, Agnes; when I get ready to lead a man he's got to be a real man with plenty of good healthy flesh on his bones."

"Of course, I dance with Ed; He's a good enough fellow and I just feel sorry for him, but no skinny, hollow cheeked, spindle shanked lath is going to sail the voyage of life with me."

Cheer up, Ed—things aren't as bad as they look to you right now. Many hundreds of skinny, gaunt, emaciated men looked even worse than you do. Tell someone told them about McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets (the new way to take Cod Liver Oil) and how it would put pounds of good firm healthy flesh on their bones in just a few weeks.

Nothing like these health creating, weight producing tablets for skinny, underweight men, as thousands can testify. Start to take them today—60 tablets—60 cents at Rowlands Pharmacy, Dixon and Rockwell, or any real druggist anywhere in North or South America.

And listen; if they don't put 5 pounds of good flesh on you in 30 days, get your money back—that's fair enough, but be sure—very sure that you get McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—the original and genuine.

TRACK MEET FOR GRADES TO WIND UP SCHOOL YEAR

Will be Held in North Side Athletic Park Saturday Morning

(By Murphy)

The fifth Annual Grade School Track Meet will undoubtedly be the best and best so far. This meet, held each year for the grade school children under the auspices of the Physical Department of the Y, will take place at the High School Athletic field Saturday morning, the first of the series being scheduled for 9:30. A number of boys will take part in the event of the school year and will be a glorious windup of athletic events which the Physical Department of the Y has conducted for the grade school boys. The basketball tournament was won by the South Central; the baseball tournament is still in doubt; while the track meet will probably be won by the school which displays the most enthusiasm and has the largest number of entries on the field competing. The events are grouped on classes according to weight. Boys under 90 pounds have 6 events, those between 90 and 115 have the same number as do those in the class of 115 and over. This gives the boys a change to compete with those of nearly their size.

The events in the three classes are: Midgets (under 90 lbs.)—50 yd. dash, 100 yd. dash, running high jump, running broad jump, standing broad jump and the pole vault. Juniors (under 115 lbs.)—50 yd. dash, running high jump, running broad jump, shot put, pole vault. Seniors (over 115 lbs.)—50 yd. dash, 100 yd. dash, running high jump, running broad jump, shot put, pole vault.

EASTERN TEAMS OF NATIONAL IN WESTERN DRIVES

Open in West Cities This Afternoon: Giants Lead

New York, June 4—(AP)—Shifting of the scenes in the National League today reopens the baseball conflict between the east and west on western ground.

The champion Giants, four and one half games in front of the pack, open a series in St. Louis without Manager McGraw and Captain Frisch. Both remained behind because of influenza.

Brooklyn is at Chicago with Philadelphia and Pittsburgh in the fight for third place while Cincinnati and Boston wrangle over fourth position. With the eastern teams taking to the road, only two games were played in the senior circuit yesterday.

Johnny Ring stood off the Braves at Philadelphia 5-4 and Leo Dickerman limited the Reds to four hits as St. Louis batted Donohue, Benton and May for an easy victory 7-3. Rogers Hornsby was pleased over the fourth straight victory of the Cardinals under his management, especially because he became a daddy a few hours before the game.

Babe Ruth went hitless in six turns at the plate but a home run by Bob Meusel—his fifth of the week and 15th of the season—gave the Yanks a 6-4 decision over Washington after 12 innings in which 34 players were used.

Washington's defeat prevented the leading Athletics from losing ground as they suffered a reversal in Boston at the hands of the Red Sox 4-2. Gamble kept nine Mack hits scattered while three Athletics pitchers were ineffective.

Poor outfielding and weak pitching lost another game for the heavy hitting Detroit Tigers, the White Sox winning 12-7, while three Cleveland pitchers failed to stop the Browns from taking their third straight 7-6.

Crowd of 60,000 to See Tomorrow's Bout

New York, June 4—(AP)—Payment on a basis of more than $4,400 a minute will be made Gene Tunney and Tom Gibbons for their 15 round heavyweight battle tomorrow night at the Polo Grounds if the bout goes the limit, it is estimated.

The advance sale of tickets indicates an attendance of 60,000 and receipts of $400,000. Thirty per cent will be the share of Gibbons, giving him $120,000, or $8,000 for each three minute round. Tunney's share will be $30,000, representing 20 per cent of the receipts, or more than $5,333, per round.

The fighters are resting today after a months preparation for the battle which marks the opening major outdoor clash of heavyweights this season in the elimination series by which promoters hope to produce an outstanding challenger to meet Jack Dempsey.

Only three members of the Reds were able to fathom the delivery of Dickerman of the Cardinals. Dressen getting a single and home run and Rousch and Walker singles.

Bob Meusel of the Yanks has destroyed Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs for the circuit drive honors of the majors.

Howard Shanks, Yank second baseman, forced the game with the Senators into extra innings by banging out a homer in the ninth inning.

Outfielder Combs, who tops Ruth in the batting order, poked four hits in five turns at bat while Ruth went hitless in six times up.

The Detroit Tigers established some kind of a record in their last seven games by polling 112 hits for 143 bases and scoring 65 runs. They started the hitting spree in Chicago where they played four games and continued their slugging in the next three games at home.

POLO LADY IS BRIDE OF WIS. MAN WEDNESDAY

Polo—On Wednesday, June 3, 1925 at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Clark occurred the marriage of their daughter Miss Myrtle to Frederick Pope, son of Rev. and Mrs. Frederick Pope of Ablesman, Wis., the ceremony being performed by Rev. Pope. The bride wore a gown of peach georgette and her bouquet was tea roses. Mrs. Pope is a graduate of the Polo high school and has been a very successful teacher for the past several years having taught in the vicinity of Polo and at DePue. Mr. Pope is a graduate of Reedsburg high school and of the University of Wisconsin. He is a chemist at Langeboth, Pa., where he and his bride will make their future home. Rev. and Mrs. Pope and son Carl of Ablesman, Wis., were out of town guests.

Misses Gertrude and Lillian Cavanaugh and their guest Miss Helen McCarthy of St. Paul were dinner guests in the William Jacob home at Sterling Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fry and son Junior of Rockford spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. M. J. Wilkes.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Vestal and children of Chicago, Miss Julia Miller of Chicago, Mrs. Charlotte Vestal of Wheaton motored to Polo Friday and were the guests of Attorney and Mrs. Robert M. Brand until Sunday, Miss Miller remaining for an indefinite visit.

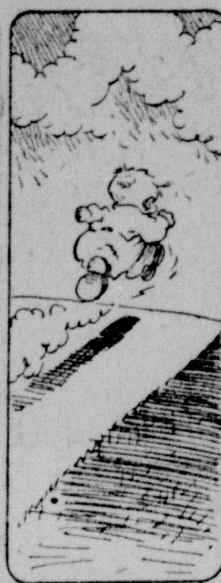

Mrs. Frances Hersch Linker and daughter of Chicago are guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hersch. Mr. Linker will join them here next week.

Miss Helen McCarthy of St. Paul spent the week end with the Misses Gertrude and Lillian Cavanaugh. Mr. and Mrs. George McCaslin, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gunder and Mrs. Wesley Dusing attended the funeral of Mrs. Sarah Green at Rockford on Tuesday morning.

O. J. Donaldson of Rockford was a business caller here Wednesday. Miss Luella Middlekauff returned home Monday from the Deaconess hospital at Freeport.—K.

Mortality figures indicate that life in the country is more healthful than that in the city. The average length of life for the male rural dweller is nearly 8 years longer than that of his city brother while country girls live 6 years longer, on the average, than city girls.

Sponsor of Allen Bill Died Wednesday

Hoopeston, Ill., June 3—(AP)—Charles A. Allen, 74, former state representative and author of the Allen bill which provided for perpetual franchises for street railways, died at his home here today. At one time Mr. Allen was a power in Illinois-republican politics.

The Allen bill, which was enacted and later repealed, caused a furor in Illinois politics and was passed at the time when the late Charles T. Yerkes was the chief traction magnate in Chicago, with control of the north and west side lines in Chicago. That was a quarter of a century or so ago.

Mr. Allen was a native of Vermilion County in which he died, and was one of the oldest lawyers of the Vermilion County bar. A son, Lawrence T. Allen, is a former county judge and now Assistant U. S. Attorney at Danville.

What people eat during the summer months may have a profound influence over their health during the remainder of the year is suggested by a physician who points out that spring fever is a neurotic condition and that the greatest number of suicides occur at the period when spring fever is most prevalent. He suggests that fresh vegetables and fruits furnish the life giving vitamins and that an abundance of these in summer probably tides the body over until the next season, pointing out that the preserved foods lack some of the original values.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton © 1925 NEA SERVICE INC.

THE STORY SO FAR:
GLORIA GORDON, beautiful flapper, marries DICK GREGORY, a struggling young lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes . . . but no work or children!

She refuses to cook or keep house. And she swamps Dick with debts for her clothes and a new automobile.

Gloria becomes infatuated with STANLEY WAYBURN, an actor. She and Wayburn, with MAY SEYMOUR, and JIM CARREWE, make a jolly foursome.

Wayburn is offered a job on the New York stage. Gloria lends him $200 of Dick's money to help him out.

Dick almost dies with pneumonia. When he recovers, DR. JOHN SEYMOUR, husband of the flighty May, sends him away for a rest. Gloria refuses to go with him, because MOTHER GREGORY, whom she hates, is going.

As soon as Dick and his mother leave on their trip, Gloria sets out for New York. She goes straight to Wayburn. But he spurns Gloria, and tells her that he has just married his leading woman, a Russian actress. Then Gloria tries everywhere to find a job as a chorus-girl, but fails.

At last she comes home to Dick. He takes her back into his house, but not as his wife. Gloria finds that everyone in town knows about her affair with Wayburn. Her friends snub her on every side. And Dick seems to have slipped away from her, too. One night Gloria finds him having dinner with MISS BRIGGS, his secretary. She goes home and waits until midnight for Dick.

She bathed and dressed. She didn't stop to dust or make beds. But, leaving the house just as it was, Gloria closed the door of the hall, and started out. She was going to see Mother Gregory! She'd let her know whose fault it was that Dick's marriage was a farce!

She was through talking to Dick. She was through pleading with him to treat her decently, Gloria told herself.

But she knew she was only trying to bolster up her vanity. Under all her bravado, she knew that the fact of the matter was that Dick was through with her. . . . She had come home from New York. She had heard it in the indifferent tone he used when he talked to her. And his indifference was maddening. She couldn't stand it!

She had always had love and indulgence from Dick. He had treated her like a tiger-kitten. Then she remembered last night. She frowned. Softly she went out into the hall and listened at Dick's door. She opened the door and peeked into the room.

The bed had been slept in. Dick's pajamas lay on the rug beside it. Where he had stepped out of them. There were ashes in the tray on the bedside table. He had been home part of the night at least. . . . And he had gone that morning without even saying goodby!

Gloria closed the door of his room. "I'll be jiggered if I make his bed or clean up the place!" she said to herself. "He can't treat me like a servant and expect I'll be one for him! Because I won't!"

While she was waiting for her tub to fill, she went downstairs to the dining room. The drawers of the sideboard were piled on top of each other on the floor. They were empty.

So there had been burglars in the house last night! And they had taken every piece of the flat silver that had been Mother Gregory's wedding present! Not so much as a spoon was left!

Gloria shivered. Then it was the burglar she had heard taking the silver out of the sideboard drawers! Burglars!

Gloria pressed one hand tight to her breast. She felt as if her heart were jumping out of her body. . . . It beat so fast! She tiptoed across the room to the door that led into the hall. She put her ear against it and listened for a long time. But there was no further sound.

Gloria began to wonder if she really had heard a noise, downstairs or not? Perhaps her tired brain had been playing her tricks. . . .

Well, as soon as Dick came she would find out if anyone had been in the house? She wouldn't be afraid to go downstairs to the dining room then. But why didn't he come?

Gloria got back into bed, and lay waiting for him. Oh, but wouldn't she pan him when he came!

Softly she went out into the hall and listened at Dick's door.

Just $100,000 per year more would give the New York City health department a cool million to pay salaries for child hygiene services. It would take only $975,000 more per year to give the state health department in Illinois a million for the same kind of work.

THE girl curled herself up in a little ball on the hard leather window seat in Mother Gregory's room. It was a room as plain as the woman who slept in it. . . . a woman who scorned silk underwear and make-up as only Mother Gregory could scorn them! There were no cushions in that room, no ruffled curtains, no dressing-table laden with perume and powder boxes. Mother Gregory stood before the walnut dresser and began to hook herself into an elaborate black dress, made in a style that had been popular when Dick was a baby!

"What did you come to see me about, Gloria?" she asked again. "We—ll," Gloria began, "last night we were robbed of every bit of that lovely flat silver you gave us for a wedding present! Some one broke into the house."

Mother Gregory threw up her plump hands. "My stars! . . . Dick's reported it to the police, of course!" she said. "Why, that silver has been in the family for a hundred years!"

Slowly Gloria shook her pretty head. "No, Dick hasn't reported it to the police. Dick doesn't know anything about the burglary," she said calmly.

Mother Gregory looked at her with her sharp black eyes. "You see," Gloria went on without flickering an eyelash, "it all happened in the middle of the night when Dick wasn't at home."

"When Dick wasn't at home?" Mother Gregory echoed in a loud, surprised tone. "Well, where on earth was he at that time of night, then?"

"That's what I want to know," Gloria answered, "but I have every reason to think that he was with Miss Briggs."

The words exploded like a bomb in the quiet room. "With Susan Briggs?" Mother Gregory repeated. "With Susan Briggs? Oh, no, Gloria!"

Gloria shrugged her shoulders. "Have it your own way," she said. "But I know that I found them having dinner together on the quiet, last night. I left them at nine o'clock. They said they were going out to work for a while at the office. And at one o'clock when I fell asleep, Dick hadn't come home!"

MOTHER GREGORY all but fell into a chair that stood opposite Gloria. Her eyes were wide, and her mouth stood open with surprise.

"I can't believe it!" she cried at last. "And how do you know when the burglar was in the house?"

"I heard him," Gloria answered. "I thought I heard Dick come in and I ran downstairs. Then I saw some one in the dining-room and I rushed back to my room and locked myself up. . . . I was scared to death!"

"You couldn't have been so terribly frightened," Mother Gregory mused, "or you wouldn't have dropped quietly off to sleep at one o'clock, as you said you did."

"At that Gloria flared up. "Well, I'll tell you just how frightened I was, if you want to know, Madam Gregory!" she said, furiously. "I was so frightened that I'll never stay alone in that house again, after dark! . . . And if your son wants to have a love affair with his office girl he'll have to work at it that way!"

"Gloria!" exclaimed Mother Gregory in the severe tones of the vice president of the Home Women's club, "You're vulgar!"

"Vulgar nothing! I'm just telling you the truth about your beautiful son!" Gloria sneered. "When I married him I thought he was a plaster saint, too! But I've found out all about him. . . . Look at those!"

She pulled some of the "Roxie" and "Lucie" love letters and pictures from her handbag and threw them into Mother Gregory's lap.

Dick's mother laughed her comfortable deep laugh, as she picked them up. "Roxie and Lucie Gilchrist!" she said. "They were both in love with Dick. First Roxie was—and then Lucie. They're both married now, though. And Lucie has a baby! . . . Dick had a lot of girls in his day, Gloria. But that doesn't prove that he isn't what you call a 'plaster saint'!"

Gloria's lip curled. "All right," she said. "But you can't explain his staying out most of last night with Susan Briggs!"

The WELL DRESSED MAN By BEAUNASH

Comes Closer To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion.

Jackets For "Roughing It"

Now-a-days, all roads lead to the open road. The spread of sport, the lure of the country and the multiplication of country clubs are one of the extraordinary developments of our national life. For years, the Englishman was credited with being the world's best sportsman, born to the saddle and bred to the rifle—"Kathleen, mavourneen, the grey dawn is breaking; the horn of the hunter is heard on the hill." Golf and polo were old in England when they were young in America. So, too, were cricket and tennis. Baseball is the only game that we can claim as wholly our own. Yet, today the pupil has outstripped the master and we excel the Englishman in polo and golf and expect to lick the world at tennis. Sportsmanship has exercised a deep and lasting influence upon men's dress. With broadened shoulders and hardened muscles, it was inevitable that free-and-easy clothes should come into vogue never to go out. Virtually every article of wear shows the effect of the virile, vertebrate standards set up by our outdoor life.

Woolies, jumpers, jerseys or sweaters, as they are variously termed, have become an all-important part of the sportsman's turnout, because they enable one to dispense with coat and waistcoat, combining these two into one substitute garment. However, for "roughing it," as distinguished from lighter, politer sports, such as golf, nothing equals the mackinaw type of garment originally borrowed from the lumberjack in the Northwestern section of the United States.

The first mackinaws were great, clumsy, double-breasted garments with enormous flip-up collars and having a half belt that fastened by means of a large buckle. Clearly, such a garment lacked smart looks and lines, no matter how comfortable it might be. Then, too, the patterns—loud plaids—were not acceptable to most men. From the old-time mackinaw coat was developed the so-called "wind-breaker" jacket made of suede or buckskin leather trimmed with wool. This model has been a favorite among sportsmen for several years, especially in cold weather.

Now comes the garment illustrated here, which has all the comfort of the mackinaw, but with trimness and refinement of style. It is made of checked wool, light yet astonishingly warm. The collar and front are ribbed in a color that contrasts smartly with the body. The cuffs and waistband are elastic-knit cloth that permits snug fit and gives the jacket a spruce, figure-tracing appearance. There are two patch breast pockets with button. Such a style is admirable for hunting, hiking, fishing, camping and the like, when warmth and protection are imperative.

Rochelle—The 1925 "Tattler" issued by the Senior Class of the Township High School will be ready for distribution on next Monday, June 1st. The book this year shows a lot of careful work by the staff and from an artistic standpoint is superior to annuals of former years. The printing is in doubletone green with a color scheme throughout that harmonizes with the art work. The staff responsible for the book was:

Warren Whitson—Editor in Chief.
Frank Wardecker—Assistant Editor.
Everett Dickerman—Business Manager.

Charles Longenecker—Adv. Manager.
William Stoppel—Athletic Editor.
Edward Crouse—Art Editor.
Elen Stegmier—Calendar and Snapshot Editor.

Archie Davis—Society Editor.
Archie Thompson—Joke Editor.
William Longenecker—Junior Representative.

M. Guhl, Alma Happe—Class Sponsors.

Alumni of the Rochelle Township High School are making big plans for a banquet to be held at the H. S. gymnasium next Friday evening, June 5th. For many years this was one of the biggest social events of the year but in recent years the interest has been dropping. The committee in charge this year has taken a renewed interest in this year and are endeavoring to make it one of the finest social events for the Alumni and the graduating class of '25. A banquet at 6:45 will be followed by initiation and the remainder of the evening will be devoted to dancing with music by a good orchestra.

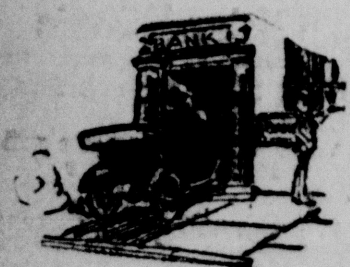

A number of the Woman's Auxiliary at Tuesday evening and made speeches which will be placed on the pages of the American Legion and auxiliary members who have died. Attorney and Mrs. M. V. Peterman have taken apartments in the Harrison flat building on Main street.

Half Sick Half Well

What A Miserable State To Be In

Yet how many are in just that condition, especially after some spell of sickness! "Weak and tired all the time"—"didn't care if I lived or died"—"couldn't take an interest in anything I did"—"everybody thought I would be an invalid for life"—are the ways some women have described their feelings at times like this.

If you are in this unhappy state, weak and run down, nervous and suffering, don't despair. Sys-Tone, the reconstructive tonic of such revitalizing influence, will help you. A proved remedy, for years available only on doctors' prescription, but now offered all mankind to relieve suffering and restore health. Sys-Tone has brought youth and vigor to thousands. Successful in cases which have resisted treatment for years. We have countless letters thanking us for the wonderful results obtained by Sys-Tone in cases like like the one described here, and many others.

Life Owes You Complete Health

You can get it as thousands of others have done—with Sys-Tone. No matter how long standing your trouble or how discouraged you may be, Sys-Tone will prove its wonderful ability to restore youth, health, strength. Also Sys-To-Lax, the perfect laxative for adults and children. Your druggist has both.

On Hospital's Verge—now Well, Strong

"I had a nervous breakdown about six months ago," says Mrs. L. M. Montgomery, and was advised to go to the hospital. Couldn't sleep and eat and would about drive me into hysteria. Didn't eat, lost weight, was badly constipated. Started using Sys-Tone, and it seemed to reach my trouble from the start. Now I feel like a new woman. Haven't a pain or an ache. Sys-Tone has done wonders for me.
